AGRICULTURAL BLOC REFUSES TO SURRENDER

Horner's Offer For Compromise Rejected By Lantz

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 12.—(AP)—The refusal of the agricultural bloc in the state Senate to surrender has checkedmate the Horner administration in its plans for the issuance of $30,000,000 in bonds to provide unemployment relief.

Deadlocked by the struggle, the General Assembly recessed last night until next Tuesday. In the meantime the administration is seeking some means of effecting a compromise which will enable it to pass the bond issue program.

After a lengthy conference with Governor Horner, Senator Simon E. Lantz, Congerville Republican, the leader of the agricultural bloc, said no compromise had been made "as none is possible."

When administration leaders sought to pass the bond program in the Senate Tuesday it received 28 of the necessary 34 votes. Eighteen Senators voted in opposition, three voted present, and one was absent. A night and a day were devoted to unsuccessful efforts to obtain the remaining six votes necessary and administration leaders spent most of the day in conference with opposition members.

Wanted Modification
Senator Richey V. Graham, Chicago Democrat, tendered administration support for the so-called Lantz bills provided opposition members voted for the bond issue program.

The Chicagoans, however, wanted the Lantz bills modified so as to make them permissible rather than mandatory. This offer which Governor Horner later repeated to Senator Lantz, was rejected. The Lantz bills, passed by the last regular session but vetoed by Governor Horner, provide that Chicago, as a city, shall levy a property tax for the support of its unemployed; that townships in Cook county outside of Chicago shall do likewise; and that downstate counties under the commission form of government may levy an additional 15 cents on the $100 property valuation for the same purpose.

While the agricultural bloc may continue to prevent adoption of the bond issue program, it is unlikely that it can without administration support, bring about passage of the Lantz bills.

Dixon Attorney Is Winner Of Case In Whiteside Co. Court

Attorney H. C. Warner of this city spent yesterday in Morrison where he appeared in the Whiteside county Circuit Court representing Frank Barber of Sterling, who had been named defendant in a suit brought by the city of Sterling for damages amounting to $811.00 done to the fire truck of that city. The case was tried before a jury in the Circuit Court, Attorney Sheldon and Brown of Sterling appearing for the city and Attorney Warner for the defendant. The case involved an accident on Fifth avenue in Sterling on Nov. 9, 1932 in which the fire truck was damaged. In making a run, it was known that the truck struck the Barber car turning it around, then climbed an eight inch curb, snapped a 16 inch telephone pole and struck a church property before coming to a stop. The jury returned a verdict last evening in which it found that Barber was not guilty of the damage claimed by the city of Sterling.

Four Powers Warn German Gov't. Attacks On Their Nationals By Nazi Adherents Must Come To End

Berlin, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Four powers have served notice on the German government that assaults on their citizens must cease or the most serious consequences concerning the relations of their countries with the Reich may result.

William E. Dodd, American Ambassador, this morning received the latest instructions of Secretary of State Cordell Hull, while the Spanish and British embassies and the Dutch legation were similarly advised to make representations.

Meanwhile deep concern was

Wage deadlocks in iron and steel silk and cotton continued to mar the industrial picture today as mediators redoubled their efforts at settlement.

The strike situation was reflected in these developments:

Striking soft coal miners gathered for a picket march on the Carnegie steel mills at Clairton, Pa., to urge steel workers to join them in seeking union recognition.

National Guardsmen were ordered into Sullivan, Ind., after three heavy explosions shook that city. The militia had been patrolling Sullivan county mines to prevent disorders.

State police at Wierton, W. Va., fired shots and used tear gas to break up a crowd of several thousand at the Wierton Steel Company's plant after some workers had been pelted with stones.

Proposal Rejected
The National Labor Board disclosed today that E. T. Weir, head of the National Steel Company, had rejected the board's proposal for settlement of the strike of the workers at the company's plants at Wierton and Clarksburg, W. Va., and Steubenville, Ohio.

The board prepared to hear complaints that Kentucky miners had been discharged for joining the United Mine Workers union.

Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, NRA chief, was told negotiations involving employees of the H. C. Frick Coke Co., in western Pennsylvania, were leading to a settlement.

Cotton Strikers Killed
Strike of 10,000 cotton pickers in California was a standstill as five ranchers were arrested in connection with the killing of three strikers. Grape pickers, fishermen and stevedores remained on strike.

Senator Robert F. Wagner said he would submit the wage disagreement in the eastern silk industry to President Roosevelt.

In Scranton, Pa., a coal truck was dynamited a short time after anthracite workers at one colliery had decided to return to work.

Five industrial plants in the Buffalo area were threatened with strikes, including the Republic and Bethlehem steel plants.

Representatives of 2,900 striking tannery workers in Gloversville, N. Y., went to Washington to confer with Senator Wagner in hopes of settling their dispute.

Big Bank Account Held Not Insults

Chicago, Oct. 12.—(AP)—A federal judge decided today that a rich account in the Harris Trust & Savings Bank belonged to Constantine S. Eftax and not to the exiled Samuel Insull.

The account, reported to contain $50,000 in gold and considerable cash and valuable securities, was released from a temporary restraining order under which Attorney Samuel A. Ettelson had sought to claim it for Insull investors.

"There is a dearth of evidence to show Insull owes the account," said Federal Judge John P. Barnes in making the ruling. Albert W. Harris, chairman of the Board of the bank, denied flatly that it belonged to Insull.

Sen. Davis' Case Nearing The Jury

"Sunken Treasure" Raised From River—

Quincy, Ill., Oct. 12.—(AP)—Long John Silver's parrot in "Treasure Island" probably would have cried "pieces of eight" when a government crew dredging near Hannibal, Mo., brought up from the Mississippi river bottom a "sunken treasure."

The treasure was a safe containing eight pieces of silver—exactly eight nickels—as bright and shiny as new coins when the silt of half a century was removed.

C. L. Adams, Quincy, dean of diversmen, on learning the dates on the coins ranged from 1866 to 1872, recalled that two packet boats sank in that vicinity, both in the year 1872. He said the safe might have been from either the Dictator or Eagle No. 1, packets.

The safe was in reality a strong box and contained a leather pocketbook so rotted and water-soaked it could hardly be recognized as a pouch.

NEGRO SUSPECT IN GIRL'S DEATH IS MOTHER'S VICTIM

Louisiana Villagers Did Not Hear Removal From Jail

Labadieville, La., Oct. 12.—(AP)—A Negro, arrested yesterday for questioning in connection with the slaying of Miss Louisiana LaRose, 15-year-old white girl whose body was found in a field, was taken from the Labadieville jail early today and lynched by a mob of unidentified men.

The Negro, whose name was not disclosed at the time of his arrest, was seized by the mob and hanged from a girder of the bridge over Bayou LaFourche. When early risers in the community saw the body at dawn and officers cut it down, they found a roughly written note pinned to the clothing warning "all persons against attacks on women of the section."

No One Awakened
So stealthily did the lynchers move on the jail and seize the prisoner after midnight, that no one in the little town was awakened. Authorities said they were investigating the manner in which the Negro was removed from the jail.

"SQUEALER" IS CUT TO DEATH IN CINCINNATI

He Had Given Information On Big Counterfeiting Ring

Cincinnati, Oct. 12.—(AP)—A man federal agents said had "squealed" on a nationally-operating gang of counterfeiters was cornered and slashed to death early today, a few hours after police were tipped he had been marked for death.

The man was Nick Damico, 47, revealed by Harry Buck, U. S. Department of Justice agent, as an insider who revealed the secrets of a counterfeiting ring Buck has been trailing since spring.

"Other murders will occur," Police Lieutenant Patrick Hayes declared. "The counterfeiters are a powerful gang, headed by men with influence. They are not going to jail if they can escape it."

Arrested for possessing counterfeit half-dollars last spring, Damico broke under questioning, Buck said, became a stool-pigeon, and passed on information that uncovered a counterfeiting ring.

NEW SCHEME FOR IMPROVEMENT OF GALENA AVENUE

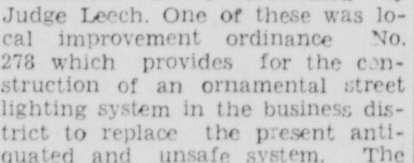

City Drops Plan Recently Taken Into County Court

Three of the local improvement projects planned by the city council under the Federal relief program were submitted for public hearing before Judge Leach in the County Court this morning. City Attorney Martin J. Gannon filed a motion for the dismissal of local improvement ordinance No. 280, which provided for the widening of Galena avenue by taking five feet from each side of the street from River street to Third street, and resurfacing the present brick pavement. Acting upon the motion of the city attorney Judge Leach, dismissed the proposal.

It is expected that another project for Galena avenue will be immediately instigated by the city council, which will be a material modification of the first plan. It is expected that the city will ask for the widening of Galena avenue from River to Third street by taking two and one-half feet from each side of the street instead of five feet. The plan also provides three types of resurfacing, one of these making it possible to construct a cement paving and two others calling for the resurfacing of the present brick pavement with asphalt or bituminous substances.

Two Schemes Confirmed
Two other proposals coming under the city's Federal aid program were also considered in the county court this morning, in which objections were withdrawn and the ordinances were confirmed by Judge Leach. One of these was local improvement ordinance No. 273, which provides for the construction of an ornamental street lighting system in the business district to replace the present antiquated and unsafe system. The second was the proposed resurfacing of several blocks of streets in the downtown district as provided for in local improvement ordinance No. 279.

In these three important projects proposed by the city council under the Federal aid program to create work for the unemployed of Dixon, members of the city council expressed an assurance that the necessary Federal aid would be forthcoming and that the projects could be started as soon as possible under the government program.

WINKLER'S BODY TAKEN IN STATE TO SAINT LOUIS

Long Line Of Curious Filed Past Casket In Mortuary

Chicago, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Reportedly kissed before departure by Margaret Mary Collins, Chicago's famed "Miss of Death," the body of Gus Winkler rode in state today back to his boyhood home at St. Louis.

A long line of curious filed past the ornate silver and bronze casket in a mortuary and delayed removing the body for more than an hour. Several witnesses reported Miss Collins was among the mourners, and that she implanted a kiss on his lips.

If the young woman garbed in black was Miss Collins, it appeared the kiss was only a gesture as she and Winkler were not friends, and perhaps not acquainted. Half a dozen of Miss Collins' suitors have died in the same manner as Winkler, at the guns of gangster executioners.

Riding on the train which bore the body was the slain gang leader's widow, her blond tresses accented by her widow's weeds. A scattering of curious was at the station to gaze upon her, and upon the flower-banked casket.

Seek Seven Men
Concurrent with Winkler's removal, it was revealed federal officials were looking for seven men in the $250,000 mail robbery a year ago, investigation of which reportedly caused Winkler's assassination and drove Edgar B. Lebensberger, night club owner, to suicide.

The seven were named as Louis Fratto, Samuel Labow, Thaddeus S. Stevens, Julius Riseman, Louis C. Perrett alias Louis Wojak, Samuel (Continued on Page 2)

REPRIEVES FOR TWO KILLERS OF POLICE PLEADED

Pardon Board Is Told Convictions Were "Mob Hysteria"

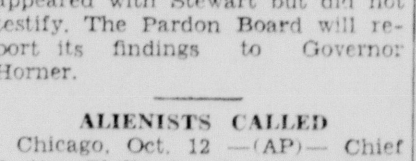

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 12.—(AP)—A plea that mob hysteria occasioned the death sentences of two Chicago police killers was made before the Board of Pardons today by William Scott Stewart, Chicago attorney.

The two for whom he asked executive clemency, pending an appeal to the United States Supreme Court, were Morris Cohen and Rose King. Unless a reprieve is forthcoming, Cohen is to die shortly after midnight tonight and King Monday.

The Illinois Supreme Court this week refused to review the cases. Cohen was sentenced to death ten days after the murder of which he was convicted.

Wilbert Crowley, an Assistant State's Attorney, denied the speedy trial had been unjust, and held that crimes such as Cohen's were in the nature of mob rule worse than that charged by the defense.

Cohen's wife, mother and sister appeared with Stewart but did not testify. The Pardon Board will report its findings to Governor Horner.

Khaki Shirts' Plot to Storm Armory in Phila. Frustrated by Officers

Celebrate Ocean Voyage Of Long Ago—

New York, Oct. 12.—(AP)—An ocean voyage made centuries ago was the inspiration for holiday observance in many parts of the nation today.

It was the journey on which Christopher Columbus, obscure Genoese seafarer, sailed his way into immortal fame as the discoverer of a new continent.

Today—the 41st anniversary of the discovery of America—was marked by celebrations and festivities, principally by Italian societies honoring their worthy ancestor. Knights of Columbus also joined in the observance.

The day was a bank holiday in some states and financial markets in some of the larger trading centers were closed, including the New York Stock Exchange.

HERO'S FIANCEE FINDS BONES OF SWEETHEART

Keys, Medals Prove He Lost Life In Train Wreck August 17

Pittsfield, Ill., Oct. 12.—(AP)—A fiancée's devotion resulted today in the identification of a few charred bones found in a railroad train wreck as the remains of Ollie King, World War hero, of Springfield.

King, who had been under treatment in the Soldiers' Home at Quincy, Ill., disappeared August 17, after having been given permission by home officers to visit his mother. After several days, the fiancée, Miss Lillian Coby of Quincy, began an inquiry of her own.

Her first discovery was the Pike county coroner's report that six or more unknown persons had been burned to death in a Wabash freight train wreck at Kinderhook Aug. 17. Near one heap of bones were found a key-ring and some World War medals. The medals were identified as King's and keys on the ring fitted the door of his mother's home in Springfield and his locker at the hospital.

The bones were shipped to the mother, Mrs. V. S. King, today for a military funeral in Springfield. King was decorated for gallantry while a member of Company I, 370th Infantry, 93rd Division.

THIRD REVOLVER NOW FIGURES IN CHURCH SLAYING

Fatal Row In Arkansas Tabernacle Is More Involved

Jonesboro, Ark., Oct. 12.—(AP)—The possibility that more than one gun figured in the fatal shooting which climaxed a factional controversy within the congregation of the Baptist Tabernacle here and brought a murder charge against the pastor, was studied today by investigating officers.

Three guns were in the hands of Sheriff Houston Johnson, who said he was endeavoring to determine whether slugs from more than one of the weapons struck W. J. Mac Murdo, 65-year-old tabernacle janitor, for whose death the Rev. Dale Crowley is charged with murder.

Crowley, 42-year-old fundamentalist who boasted of being ousted from Baylor University because of a brush with the faculty on doctrinal beliefs, was being held in an unannounced town to which he was taken following the shooting Tuesday. The Sheriff said the intense situation here prompted this action.

Sheriff Johnson said the guns in his possession were found in the tabernacle. He said one belonged to Crowley, another to MacMurdo and a third, from which one shot was fired, to Lloyd Shook, former tabernacle nightwatchman.

Many Weapons Seized Shirts Planned To Go To Capital

Philadelphia, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Raiding three headquarters of the Khaki Shirts, police today arrested twenty-seven men awaiting a scheduled march on Washington and seized loaded pistols, knives, clubs and blackjacks.

Police said they had received "definite information" that the Khaki Shirts planned to storm the armory of the 11th Regiment, Pennsylvania National Guard, to get ammunition for their march.

Three armories were placed under guard, and the raids on the headquarters were made when residents called police to protest that armed men were walking around the streets.

Among the prisoners was a "General" and a couple of "Colonels," but police said they were still seeking the organizer and self-styled Commander-in-Chief, Arthur J. Smith.

Got Many Weapons
The prisoners were held in bail ranging from $500 to $2,500 on charges of violating the state firearms act, inciting to riot and disturbing the peace by carrying weapons. Police displayed weapons.

Meanwhile "Colonel" James Laskey, who was also the Commander's bodyguard, swore out a warrant for Smith charging fraudulent conversion of furniture with which Laskey said he had equipped the leader's three-room apartment in general headquarters.

It was Smith who announced 1-500,000 men would descend on the Capital from nine states today and "install" President Roosevelt as the nation's Dictator. It was Smith's order to march which was being awaited by the Khaki Shirts when the police arrived.

Meeting in Headquarters
Police, who said they are seeking Smith, asserted that a "mutiny" broke out in the headquarters, a former hospital in North Philadelphia, before the raiding party arrived and Smith departed while his officers and men were looking for him for further information about his plans.

Police Captain Walter Hartley, who visited the headquarters before the raid, said "the last I saw of Smith was as he went out a window in the rear."

Smith, in announcing plans for the advance on the Capital, said installation of the President as a Dictator would be in accordance with the organization's Fascist policies and some of the prisoners were quoted by Inspector John E. Driscoll, who conducted two of the raids, as talking of "having it out with the Communists" in Washington.

Contract Let For Painting Brown Co. Building In Dixon

The Dixon Chamber of Commerce this afternoon received word from the offices of the Brown Shoe Company at St. Louis, stating that Fred Greer and Frank Ortigues of this city had been awarded the contract for the painting of the Dixon factory building belonging to the Brown Shoe Company. The Chamber of Commerce several days ago was requested by the Brown Company to interest local painting contractors who were to submit bids direct to the St. Louis offices. The bids closed Monday and word of the award of the contract was received here today.

After Seven Days, Seven Nights Without Food Or Water Miner Is Rescued From Abandoned Shaft

Fairmont, W. Va., Oct. 12.—(AP)—For seven days and seven nights without food or water and grooping in utter darkness, Charles Montgomery, 54, wandered helplessly through the labyrinthine maze of an abandoned section of a coal mine at nearby Downs.

Hardly able to walk, his shoes cut to pieces by the jagged slate in the old mine tunnels, the weary miner was rescued last night far from the point at which he had entered the workings.

"Give me a drink of water," was his first cry after two members of the rescue party found him tramping aimlessly in search of the main shaft.

Absent from the mine for weeks, he entered last Wednesday and decided to "look around a bit." In an abandoned section his light failed. A search began after his family reported him missing and his dinner pail was found at the mine entrance.

His condition was reported as "not serious."

SPEEDY TRIAL OF KIDNAPERS ENDED TODAY

Get Maximum Sentence Under Federal 'Lindbergh' Law

Oklahoma City, Oct. 12.—(AP)—George (Machine Gun) Kelly and his wife, Kathryn, were sentenced to life imprisonment today, a few minutes after a Federal jury had convicted them under the "Lindbergh law" of kidnaping Charles F. Urschel, Oklahoma City oil millionaire.

The maximum sentences were pronounced by Judge Edgar Vaughn sixteen days after the capture of the Kellys at Memphis, Tenn., and only three days after they went to trial.

Thus six of the nine persons convicted for the $200,000 kidnaping conspiracy have been ordered to prison for the rest of their lives, others also under life sentence being Harvey Bailey, the jailbreaker; Albert Bates, Kelly's aide in the actual kidnaping, and Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Shannon, operators of the Paradise, Tex., "kidnap farm" where Urschel was imprisoned. Mrs. Shannon is Kathryn Kelly's mother.

Kelly To Atlanta
Federal agents had perfected plans to take Kelly by plane to Leavenworth Federal penitentiary. His wife is to serve her sentence at the women's Federal prison in West Virginia.

The jury's verdict was reached last night after deliberation of only one hour. Under the court's instruction, however, it was sealed and not opened until court opened this morning.

The Kellys received the verdict and sentence without changing expression.

In the front row of spectators, Pauline, 15-year-old daughter of the convicted woman, smiled strangely.

Under Guard In Court
The accused entered the room under guard. They sat at the end of their counsel table, facing the bench.

Judge Vaughn scanned the verdict casually and handed it to Theo Filson, court clerk, to read. James H. Mathers, defense attorney, immediately filed a motion for new trial. It was overruled.

"Have you anything to say before sentence is pronounced?" Judge Vaughn asked the prisoners. "No sir," Kathryn replied.

Kelly shook his head.

Judge Vaughn then pronounced the sentences and the Kellys were rushed back to their county jail cells.

Girl Gets Property
Jewelry, automobiles, a Fort Worth residence and other property claimed by Mrs. Kelly were ordered listed and held by the government for later transfer to the 15-year-old Pauline. Before court opened, Mrs. Kelly signed a deed giving the $30,000 home and $10,000 in other property to her daughter.

In front row seats, Urschel, the millionaire victim; his attractive wife and E. E. Kirkpatrick, who paid the $200,000 ransom to Kelly on a Kansas City street, expressed gratification at the sentences.

The jury foreman, G. H. Verity, said only one ballot was required to decide the guilt of each defendant.

In his charge to the jury, Judge Vaughn, had said he did not believe Kathryn's story that she was forced into the crime by her husband's threats.

Concurred In Verdict
Kelly, repeatedly accused as kidnaper, ransom collector and as the writer of death threats to Urschel during the first trial last month, offered

"GLY-CAS BEST OF ALL REMEDIES"

Declares Practical Nurse; Could Hardly Talk With Rheumatism, Indigestion Caused Awful Misery, Now Feels She Is Entirely Well, Works Everyday.

"Gly-Cas gave me a new lease on life," said Mrs. Josie Holland, 211 12th St. N. W., Mason City, Iowa, well known and respected practical nurse of that city.

MRS. JOSIE HOLLAND

Indigestion had bothered me for years, was miserable with awful pain in my side, could hardly go at times. Fainting spells were awful, many times I would have to sit down to keep from falling. Then rheumatism settled in my ankles, nearly crippling me, hardly get around. I began Gly-Cas with little hope of recovery—but to my pleasant surprise it regulated my whole system. Rheumatism has left me entirely, eat what I want now, never bothered afterwards, fainting spells are a thing of the past, sleep good and able to work everyday. Gly-Cas was worth many times its cost to me."

Gly-Cas is sold by Campbell's White Cross Pharmacy, and by all leading drug stores in surrounding towns.—Adv.

From Kleiglits to Footlights

This smile that you've seen flashing across the screen, now will flash across the footlights. For Pola Negri, noted film star, was ready to take a role on the legitimate stage when, as you see her here, she landed in New York from Europe. Asked about her reported engagement to Harold P. McCormick of Chicago, she said there was "just a friendship" between them.

Twelve Per Cent Of Population Of U. S. Get Relief

Washington, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Harry L. Hopkins estimates 12 per cent of the population are on relief rolls.

In exact figures, the Federal Relief Administrator puts the total at 15,100,000. His estimate embraces state, county, local and private rolls.

"Let no one think that we are not going to have a great many people depending on unemployment relief for their existence this winter," Hopkins said last night in giving these figures.

"The needy unemployed are going to be taken care of this winter. The federal government is not going to countenance relief on a standard so low that the needy unemployed are only a calvary or two ahead of the grim reaper."

Lindbergh Visits Croydon's Airport

Croydon, Eng., Oct. 12.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, who has been in England several days without publicly revealing his whereabouts, arrived at the airport here today by automobile on what was described as a private visit to the Imperial Airways.

It was understood the Colonel looked over plans for a landing field and a general method for dealing with the arrival and departure of planes to and from the continent. He then left by automobile for an unrevealed destination.

Permit Beer Sale On U. of W. Campus

Madison, Wis., Oct. 12.—(AP)—The sale of beer in the Memorial Union, social center of the University of Wisconsin, and in the rectory of the men's dormitories—demanded by students—was authorized by the school's Board of Regents. There was one dissenting vote. The action was taken yesterday.

To Probe Strong Box

Authorities looked forward today to delving into the private papers of Lebensberger, and hoped their efforts might be rewarded with a little first hand information of last December's quarter million dollar mail robbery.

After finding a safety deposit box rented by the man in a local bank, officials were folled in their efforts to open it yesterday when a key couldn't be found that would fit it. But late last night an attorney who said he represented the widow promised to produce the key today.

Coroner Frank Walsh said it was hoped the contents would show the connecting link between Lebensberger and Winkler.

of William S. Stewart, Cohen's attorney, as a preliminary to a petition for a stay of execution and for Cohen's committal to a hospital for the insane.

Cohen shot and killed policeman Joseph Hastings August 14, in a payroll holdup on Navy Pier. A companion in the holdup is still at large.

Cohen is the first killer slated for execution in the Criminal Court's summer-long drive on crime. Several others have been condemned. George Dale, killer of Gustav Hoehn, a shopkeeper, in a holdup in company with Eleanor Jarman, "blond tigress," was granted a writ of supersedeas. He had been scheduled to die with Cohen tonight, but the writ will give him at least a month more of life.

Ross King, who also killed a policeman, Harry Redlich, in a holdup, is slated for execution Monday.

Powers Of Labor Board Face Test

Washington, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Senator Wagner, chairman of the National Labor Board, said today the board would consider before nightfall what action, if any, it would take on the refusal of a number of western Kentucky coal operators to appear for a hearing.

The hearing was on a charge by miners that they had been discharged for joining the United Mine Workers of America. C. F. Richardson, president of the West Kentucky Coal Company, was the only operator to appear. Several others sent telegrams to the board declining to appear, while others neither appeared nor sent in any communication.

In some labor circles, the operators' refusal to appear was regarded as the possible base of a test of the board's authority. The board was established by President Roosevelt's executive order.

HURT IN COLLISION

Mrs. Ray Wilson and son Morris, 806 East Morgan street, were painfully cut and bruised last evening in an automobile accident at Drew's Corners west of Dixon on the Lincoln Highway. M. C. Garrahan of Chicago, who with his sister, Mrs. J. B. Jack, were driving west in a new Buick sedan, crashed into the Wilson car, which was coming toward Dixon. According to reports the Chicago driver narrowly missed another car shortly before crashing into the Dixon machine.

Mrs. Wilson and son sustained cuts and bruises and were removed to their home, where their injuries were dressed. Both cars were considerably damaged and were brought to local garages.

Notices of appeal were ready for filing, Mathers declaring he would seek a reversal and John V. Roberts, his colleague, saying: "This case will go to the United States Supreme Court."

Others Sentenced

Aside from the six persons now under life sentences in the case, Armon Shannon, 22-year-old son of R. G. Shannon, received a ten-year suspended sentence as a result of the first trial and Edward (Barney) Berman and Clifford Skelly of Minneapolis, accused as "money changers" of part of the ransom, were sentenced to five years each.

In addition, conspiracy indictments have been returned against Langford Ramsey, Memphis attorney accused of seeking to recover for Kelly the $73,200 in ransom money which Federal agents later dug up from the Cass Coleman farm in Texas, and two men arrested in the Memphis house where the Kellys were caught.

Cass Coleman and Will Casey, his former neighbor, are charged with harboring fugitives from justice in connection with the burial of the ransom money and related incidents.

Mayors Ask Local Liquor Regulation

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 12.—(AP)—Local regulation was the plea of a majority of the representatives of downstate municipalities who appeared before the Illinois liquor commission which is seeking to formulate a state control plan for submission to the General Assembly.

The commission held its second downstate meeting here last night. Mayor A. M. Jennings of Granite City asked for the return of "a pure and simple saloon." He suggested an open and segregated saloon at which only hard liquor will be available. He claimed the dispensary system would encourage bootlegging.

Mayor John W. Kapp, Jr., of Springfield, representing the Illinois Municipal League, asked for a "system under which liquor will be easily available under strong local regulation and taxes, with minors barred."

DIXON KIWANIS CLUB SPONSORS "NRA" LUNCHEON

Frederick V. Fisher Of Washington To Be Speaker Tuesday

The Dixon Kiwanis club is sponsoring an NRA luncheon to be held at the Nachusa Tavern at 12:15 next Tuesday noon. Frederick Vining Fisher is to be the speaker and will explain in detail the NRA plan. The luncheon is not confined to the membership but any who are interested in the government program are invited to take advantage of this opportunity to hear this eminent speaker. Business and professional men, representatives of all service clubs, manufacturers and wholesalers are particularly invited to be present. Tickets for the luncheon may be obtained from any of the following members of the special committee, which has been appointed by President Forrest Suter, of the local Kiwanis club:

A. H. Lancaster, John E. Moyer, Henry Hey, William J. Sullivan, F. A. Hanson, Louis Pitcher, Frank Chiverton and O. H. Martin.

The speaker, Frederick Vining Fisher was born in New York, but for many years his legal residence has been in California. He was educated at Yale university.

From 1912 to 1915 he was chief of the Bureau of Platform Publicity for the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, directing the activities of speakers throughout the world. He served two years with the United States government, 1917 and 1918, as morale builder for state-inaugurating community organizations. From 1925-26 he was eastern commissioner for the Chamber of Commerce of Los Angeles. Following that he spent several years organizing the city of Chicago for the inland waterways program.

He is a forceful and convincing speaker who has been in close contact with the National Recovery Administration and has for several months made his residence in Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Streit Hostess to Baptist Guild

The October meeting of the World Wide Guild of the First Baptist church was held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Charlotte Streit.

The meeting opened by singing several songs.

There were fifteen present. Miss Martha Pittman had charge of the evolutions. Mrs. Streit read from the 14th Chapter of John.

There were several sentence prayers. The minutes were read and approved. It was decided to send for a missionary book "Northern Baptist Rethink Mission."

Mrs. Louise Johnson had the paper for the evening, "Hens and Eggs and Evangelism."

The remainder of the evening as spent in sewing, and at the use very tempting refreshments are served.

The meeting adjourned by repeating the Guild Covenant together.

All declared Mrs. Streit a royal hostess.

Demands on Education by New Deal

San Claire, Wis., Oct. 12.—(AP)—Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, the first woman cabinet member, told a meeting of the Northwestern Wisconsin Teachers Association here today that new demands will be made on education by the "new deal."

There will be demands for adult education, workers' education and more adolescent education, Secretary Perkins said.

"It must be practical, attractive and recreational," the Secretary asserted. "Teachers will have to submit to the same public test as the concert singer or shooting gallery. They will have to make education interesting and dramatic or their adult classes will walk out on them."

Secretary Perkins praised the action of Wisconsin in being the first state to establish a system of unemployment reserves. She pointed out the need of some such fund to help prevent future depressions.

Average Woman Is Much Taller Today

Chicago, Oct. 12.—(AP)—The average woman of today is thirty inches taller than the average back in 1893, dietitians, meeting in conjunction with the American College of Surgeons, were told by Dr. Charles Read of Elgin, Ill.

Speaking yesterday, Dr. Read, who is superintendent of the Elgin State Hospital, said he attributed the growth in women to a better knowledge of balanced diets and a subsequent lessening of nervous ailments. Balanced diets, he said, act to prevent nervous disorders.

It is bad business, the surgeons were informed by Dr. Alfred W. Adson of the Mayo Foundation of Rochester, Minn., to correct children at meal time, because it destroys their digestion, and reacts upon their nervous systems. It has a like effect upon the parents.

"Fear," the doctor said, "is the chief cause of all nervous troubles; and it must be avoided. Take your time about everything, eat plenty of good food, get the proper amount of sleep, have a bit of recreation each day, and you won't be bothered with nerves."

The "worrying doctor" found support among the surgeons. Dr. J. Bentley Squier of New York, retiring president of the College said:

"The day when the doctor loses the human touch and his patients become just so many numbers to him in a hospital, is the day when medical science will begin to lose ground."

Childbirth, said Dr. C. Jeff Miller of New Orleans, is no longer a natural process, and should be supervised by a physician as closely as a serious disease.

Posture is often the cause of a double chin. If you hold your chin in toward your chest instead of carrying it in and up at the same time, the extra roll of flesh which such a bad head carriage creates will, sooner or later, develop into a permanent fixture.

Stand in front of a mirror and observe the way you hold your chin and head. Is the back of your neck perfectly straight and is your chin held in toward your neck at the same time it is uplifted? If not, try and correct the fault before you get an extra chin which you cannot eliminate.

Patting with pieces of cotton dipped in an astringent is one way to lose a double chin. Slapping the roll of flesh with the palms of your hands is another. Try to do it every night before you go to bed. Stimulation of circulation helps to carry away excess fat.

Here is an exercise designed to correct a flabby throat and a double chin. It should be done each night before you go to bed.

Sit erect in a straight-backed chair. Keep your hands at your sides. Hold your chin upward.

The nopen your mouth and let your head fall backward as far as it will go. When it is resting backward on your shoulders, slowly close your mouth. Bring your head forward into position and repeat the exercise ten or twelve times.

Family Reunion Day Walnut Church

Walnut—Next Sunday will be family reunion day at the Walnut Christian church. A scramble dinner will be served in the basement following the morning services. A feature of the afternoon's program will be a concert from 2:30 to 3:30 by a ten piece orchestra from Colchester, Ill. Four daughters of Dr. Ben Brown of that city are members of this orchestra and will be with them. Dr. and Mrs. Brown were former residents of Walnut.

HAVE BEEN GUESTS OF MRS. VAN INWEGEN—Mrs. W. S. Stillman and daughter, Miss Stillman, of Council Bluffs, Ia., have been guests of Mrs. Nellie Van Inwegen. This afternoon Mrs. Van Inwegen and her guests left by motor for the Century of Progress to be gone several days.

WERE GUESTS AT THE A. A. ROWLAND HOME—Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Larson of Chicago spent a few days the first of the week in Dixon, visiting their many friends here. They are former Dixonites. During their visit they were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Rowland.

Helpful Hints For Housewives

Picnic Sandwiches Keep If Prepared This Way

For picnics, parties or motor trips save time by preparing sandwiches ahead of time. They'll keep fresh 24 hours if properly stored. As soon as they are made, wrap tightly in wax paper, place in a box lined with a damp cloth and cover with a cloth. Put on the lid and store in the ice box.

One Cooking of Beans

Beans, already economical on the family menu, add further saving if cooked in quantity sufficient for three meals. Boil them in water with a ham bone or salt pork. Serve first in their liquor. Keep those not used in a cool place and then bake enough for dinner the next day, seasoning with molasses, a little mustard and onion. Those not baked can be used for bean soup on the day following.

Cut Saves Fingers

Do you ever give yourself a mean little puncture when you are looking through your sewing basket and a finger encounters the tip of the scissors? This need never happen if you keep a small cork on the end of the scissors.

Shredded String Beans

Shredded string beans are very palatable and cook more quickly than the ordinary kind. A good way to prepare them is to steam by cooking in a double boiler.

The Child's Paints

Good paints for the child to use in expressing his artistic talents may be made with dry ground paint from the paint store mixed, a proper quantity at a time, with water, in six-ounce jars. The child should have at least the three primary colors to work with and long, thick brushes, which make generous marks, without "scrubbing." He should work on large sheets of inexpensive, absorbent paper. "Newsprint," available in stationery stores, is especially satisfactory.

Housekeeping Tips

When time is short and the white of an egg must be beaten as a part of dinner preparations, a pinch of salt added to the egg white will help to speed the process.

A little garlic rubbed over the broiler before the steak is cooked adds a delicious flavor.

If the recipe calls for melted shortening measure after you have completed the melting process. Spices should be crushed before measuring.

Cake catastrophes more often result from baking in too hot an oven than from any other cause.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST ADVENTURE.

A very old map was found in the archives of the former sultans of Turkey not long ago. It proved, to the delight of scholars, to be a copy of a map used by Christopher Columbus himself. On the border, in Arabic, was the story of Columbus' voyages, written for the ruler of Turkey by some court scribe way back to the dawn of the sixteenth century.

A paragraph of this story is worth rereading today, as a reminder that the whole Columbus epic is one of the finest bits of courage and high adventure ever told.

The unknown Turkish author, after telling how Columbus begged the men of Genoa for ships with which he could explore the western ocean, quotes their reply:

"They say: 'Oh, you simpleton, in the west is to be found the end and extremity of the world and its boundary; it is full of the vapor of darkness.'"

There is somehow a creepy quality to those words which helps us to understand just what an uncertain and scary job it was that Columbus tackled.

The earth today offers no voyage even remotely equal to it. For there were no charts of the western sea then. A resolute and foolhardy man heading west might fetch up anywhere from the Isles of the Blest to the very jumping-off place itself.

He didn't know and no one else knew. There was an abundance of weird tales about the dreadful things that could happen to him, and however much he might doubt them he had no way of proving that they weren't true, but to go himself and find out.

All he could be sure of was that he would sail into an empty sea, a sea that never had seen a sail before. Columbus believed, as the old Arabic writer says, that "the western sea has an end, that on the side of the sunset there are coasts and islands, and many different kinds of mines, and also a mountain of precious stones."

But he couldn't quite be sure, and there must have been moments, late at night when he had only stars and waves for company, when he must have wondered if he were not sailing right out of the ordinary world into unimaginable and inescapable perils.

Those eerie words about "the vapor of darkness" are more than an expressive phrase; they tell what most men actually expected Columbus to find.

The earth's history holds few stories more romantic than this one of Columbus. Once a year is not too often to reread it.

IT'S A GREAT GAME.

Former Representative LaGuardia is a victim of his own kind of politics. He has regarded lightly the rules of the game and has made his own rules to suit his purposes. He runs on the republican ticket most of the time, and reaps whatever benefit may come from that alignment, but the thread that binds to the party is weak.

In the course of events he was defeated in the November election, so he no longer is a member of congress. Tammany won the primaries in the mayoralty race in the city of New York and renominated Mayor James P. O'Brien. It was not a popular choice and opportunities of a fusion candidate appeared exceptional. LaGuardia took up the banner against Tammany, offering to lead the anti-Tammany democrats and the republican to whatever glory awaited them.

Postmaster General Farley did not like the outlook of a candidate nominally republican carrying New York so he brought out Joseph V. McKee, who served the unexpired term left by resignation of Mayor Walker. McKee appears as an independent.

That cuts the throat of LaGuardia, unless all signs fail. In the event of some persons becoming a victim of such tactics, it would seem an unfair proceeding in light of earlier understandings. However, in the case of LaGuardia, it is a case of getting a dose of one's own medicine, chickens coming home to roost, reaping what one has sown, or whatever figure of speech one prefers to employ. It's all the same in any language.

Men must have confidence in the honesty and fairness of their social, their economic, their financial and their political order.—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University.

Education is the vaccination and the spinach and the cod liver oil of the body politic.—Dr. Hans Zinsser of Harvard.

It was not shame that made clothing, but clothing that made shame.—Clarence Darrow.

I have worked for eight years and have never received any salary or compensation of any kind.—Clarence Dillon, New York broker.

I did not impose myself by force on the people of Italy.—Premier Mussolini.

It is man's intelligence that makes him behave more stupidly than the beasts.—Aldous Huxley, author.

The man the Tynymites had met said, "Now, tots, there's no need to fret. Just tell me what the trouble is. I'll see what I can do."

"Although I'm just a fisherman, I'll gladly help you if I can. I'll bet that everything will be all right when we are through."

Then Scouty told how Duncy had dropped out of sight. "Well, that's too bad," the man replied. "But I know where we'll find the little lad."

"It isn't very far from here, and there is not a thing to fear. You'll be surprised to find out what a good time he has had."

"Let's go right now," said Goldy. "Gee, I'm curious as I can be." "Oh, no, there is no hurry," said the man. "I want to eat."

"You see, I've caught a lot of fish, and they will make a tasty dish. Say, if you tots are hungry, you can join me in the treat."

The Tynymites agreed to this.

"It's something that we wouldn't miss," said Windy. "Let's have sandwiches. With fish, they taste just great."

"All right! You all shall have your fill. We'll cook them on my little grill," the man replied. "I am so hungry, I can hardly wait."

Soon Dotty shouted, "Look at that! The fish are crackling in hot fat. I'll cut some bread so it will be all ready when they're done."

"I'll help you," Goldy loudly cried. And shortly, they both ran inside the fisherman's old cabin. Dotty said, "Gee, this is fun!"

At last the sandwiches were made. The old man then said, "I'm afraid you Tynymites will eat too much because they taste so good."

"Just satisfy your appetite. Then stop, and you will be all right. I'll only make you feel bad, if you eat more than you should."

(The fisherman springs a surprise in the next story.)

ASHTON NEWS

By E. TILTON

Ashton—The New Era Circle of the Presbyterian church meets on Thursday afternoon at the Presbyterian church.

Miss Nelson, instructor in mathematics, Miss Ventler of the grammar room, and Miss Muriel Vencich, music instructor of the high school spent the week end in Chicago, attending the Century of Progress.

Communion service was observed at the Presbyterian church on Sunday with five new members joining the church.

Funeral services for the late Frank L. Tilton were largely attended on Tuesday. Ashton Masonic order had charge of the services at the grave with B. Moore of Rochelle acting as Master. Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Graham of Western Springs, and many from Dixon, Oregon, Rochelle, Rockford and Ashton were present.

Lighthouse annual supper is scheduled for Thursday evening, many from Ashton plan to attend. A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend the installation of the Rev. C. P. Blekinge as pastor of the Presbyterian church on October 15. Rev. Irwin of Sterling will deliver the address of the evening and he will be assisted on the program by the Rev. J. Frank Young of Dixon, and Rev. Rendell of Morrison.

Mr. and Mrs. Vandere of Rochelle were guests on Sunday at the Fred Schmidt home.

Sam T. Zellar, former Ashton man, but a resident of Genoa for many years, has announced his candidacy for the office of treasurer of DeKalb county.

Mrs. H. P. Keuten is hostess to the Ashton Women's Club at their October meeting on the twentieth.

Mrs. Charles Dailey is hostess to the Pine Rock Woman's Club on Friday, Oct. 13. Mrs. G. H. H. of Polo is the speaker. Mrs. Margaret Johnston is in charge of program.

Mrs. Viola Sanford who made her home with Mr. and Mrs. Leland Tilton the past week left on Sunday to make her home with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Rea of Colorado Springs, Colo. As parting Mrs. Sanford was accompanied by Mrs. H. W. Yates, who enroute to Los Angeles, Cal.

Mrs. Martha Gossard of Chana is quite ill. Mrs. Gossard is among the oldest residents of the community.

Miss Della Schnuckel is spending this week with her sister, Mrs. Frank Moore of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gilmore and Mr. and Mrs. John Holdren spent Sunday at the World's Fair.

The Compton's Woman's Club enjoyed its annual picnic Saturday in the form of a tour of attractive gardens and lawns of surrounding communities. The first place visited was that of Mr. and Mrs. John Gross of Meafloa whose back yard was one of the most original planned of those visited. Of special interest was the unique rustic fence giving a distinct air of seclusion and privacy to the delightfully informal garden.

The Marie Olmstead Memorial museum located in the L. B. Olmstead home at Somonauk afforded great interest to the members of the club for its semi-formal gardens surrounding a structure wealthy in historical relics, both local and general. A most pleasing effect was created by the tall trees serving as a background for the spacious lawn with its beds of striking flowers.

At Sandwich a visit was made at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Kell where plots of brilliant flowers and large pools filled with water lilies covered the spacious gardens.

A picnic lunch was enjoyed at Oswego on the river bank of the home of John Hunt, vice president of the Pictorial Paper Box Co. of Aurora, after which a matinee at Aurora closed a very enjoyable day for the club.

Hospital Notes

George Thier Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Thier of Sublette underwent an operation for hernia on Friday.

Mrs. George Schnuckel who suffered a fractured arm sustained in a fall at her home was brought to the hospital Friday, a severe heart attack following the fall.

The daughter of Edward Hoelzer of Scarborough is recovering from an appendix operation.

The son of George Thier, Jr. had his tonsils removed at the local hospital.

Mrs. Paul Kessler underwent an operation at the local hospital Sunday morning.

Mrs. Thez Campbell of Chicago underwent an appendix operation at the hospital Sunday.

Daisy July, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chris July had her tonsils removed at the hospital Sunday.

During the past week Drs. C. A. Hosper of Chicago, E. B. Owens of LaMoille, F. C. Fleming and C. L. Carnahan of Paw Paw assisted in operative work at the local hospital.

Miss Helen Schnuckel, R. N., and Mrs. Bowers are on duty at the hospital.

Lloyd McDougal was injured last week by the lift of a truck striking him. He was brought to the hospital where three stitches were taken to close the wound received in the lip.

Everyone enjoys a visit to the Walgreen stores at the Century of Progress. It is a nice place for luncheon.

WIFE OF PENNA. GOVERNOR HITS AT STEEL HEAD

Accused Frick Officer Of Bad Faith In Its Dealings With Labor

Apollo, Pa., Oct. 12—(AP)—Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, militant wife of Pennsylvania's independent Governor, accused the H. C. Frick Coke Company of "bad faith" in its dealings with labor.

Addressing a huge mass meeting of Allegheny valley steel workers and miners in a park near Apollo last night, Mrs. Pinchot charged that Thomas Moses, Frick president "deliberately refused to take a step that would have prevented bloodshed in the coal fields."

Six weeks ago, she said, the Governor pleaded with Moses to keep Frick's Rayette county mines closed "for just 24 hours more" to prevent trouble during a strike of the miners.

She quoted the coal company head as having replied:

"There is going to be fighting sooner or later and we are ready for it."

Seek Solution
Moses and Philip Murray, United Mine Workers vice president, met today in a second conference called to effect peace in the embattled soft coal fields and send tens of thousands of striking miners back to work.

With 70 state police and 105 state highway patrolmen on duty at the park, there was no disorder as Mrs. Pinchot delivered a scathing denunciation of "steel trust officials," whom she blamed for the wave of labor unrest in western Pennsylvania.

She accused the corporations of brow-beating their men, paying them "starvation" wages and forcing them to endure unthinkable working conditions.

ROCHELLE NEWS

By Arthur T. Guest

Rochelle — Covers were laid for one hundred at the installation banquet of Rochelle Post No. 403, American Legion, at which the Legion Auxiliary of the Post were guests of honor.

A splendid 6-30 dinner was served under the direction of the committee consisting of Fred Swingley, Herbert Kuemmel, Edward Osborne, and A. M. Lind assisted in serving by the Camp Fire Girls.

Following the banquet, Harry Stauffer, of Mt. Morris, as installing officer, assisted by Warren Cronk as sergeant-at-arms seated the following officers: Commander, Roy Westlin; Senior Vice-Commander, Edward Osborne; Junior Vice-Commander, Franklin Ritchie; Adjutant, Arthur T. Guest; Finance Officer, William Bouchard; Chaplain, W. C. Lux, Jr.; Sergeant-at-Arms, Herbert Kuemmel; Service Officer, John Manning; Executive Committee: Roy Walker, E. L. Bemis, Warren Cronk, B. L. Berve; Harold Palmer; Judge Advocate, Harold A. Neff; Arthur T. Guest also holds the office of Post Historian.

Committee appointments include: Membership, William A. Johnson; Graves Registration, W. C. Lux, Jr.; Child Welfare, Edward Osborne.

Preceding the installation, William A. Johnson, retiring commander, as toastmaster, called for talks by Mrs. Agnes Price, first

Part Of Blame For Gangsters Is Laid To Church

Pittsburgh, Oct. 12—(AP)—The Rev. George A. Campbell of St. Louis says the church is partly "responsible for gangsters and racketeers" because it no longer is "commanding the cities."

Addressing an evangelistic association meeting at the opening of the five day international convention of the Disciples of Christ, Mr. Campbell, the convention president, asserted that "most of the criminals come from sections from which the church has retreated."

He told the vanguard of 5,000 delegates last night that more intensive church activity is essential in the cities if society is to be saved.

"Modernistic tendencies" of the ministers in large cities brought censure from Rev. George Knepper, of Akron, O., who termed modernism "the most consummate failure in the world."

"Religion has become professionalized in the big city church," Mr. Knepper asserted.

With business sessions opening today, delegates awaited a committee report on the controversial proposal to make the convention a legislative rather than an advisory body.

As now constituted, the convention has no authority over the individual churches in the denomination of 1,700,000 members.

President of Mt. Morris Auxiliary, a former district president and past state chaplain; Mrs. Boynton, of Mt. Morris, president of the Ogle County Council; Mrs. Bainhizer, retiring president of Mt. Morris Auxiliary; and Mrs. Edson, President-elect of H. Morris auxiliary, Mrs. William A. Johnson, president of Rochelle Unit of the Auxiliary, presented the situation at Rochelle, and was warmly supported by members present, the past officers and the American Legion Post.

Retiring Commander William A. Johnson made a very impressive report of the splendid accomplishments of Rochelle Post No. 403 under his administration which included the investment of $2000 in Liberty Bonds from the trust funds of the post, the securing of the closed Peoples Loan & Trust Co., bringing the post to a 100% standing in membership, the securing and placing of two artillery pieces, one at Memorial Park and one at Lawnside cemetery; attendance at all but two of the post meetings which brought out an average attendance of 25; service work for the McCoy family; presentation of flags and awards in the schools and other laudable enterprises.

As a mark of esteem on the part of Rochelle Post, Charles E. Kepner first commander of Rochelle Post, presented Mr. Johnson with a past commander's jewel.

Report of the accomplishments of the national American Legion convention in Chicago was given by District Delegate Edward Slothover and continued support for Service Officer John Manning was assured by vote of the post. Report on Post Finances was made by Roy Westlin.

Social features of the evening were an entertainment of magic by Ralph Pierce and his assistants and dancing to the excellent music of the Al Lind orchestra.

British Postage Stamps

British postage stamps have never borne the name of Great Britain, but only the legend Postage and Revenue and, with very few exceptions, the profile of the reigning monarch. Some stamps are more curious in that there is no indication on them of their value. An example of this was the newspaper stamp issued by Australia in 1863, which bore neither the name of the country nor the value. The design was a head of the Greek god Hermes, enclosed in a fancy border.

FARMER-OWNED CHEESE PLANTS HAVE BIG FIELD

Dept. Of Agriculture Expert Urges More Be Established

Washington, Oct. 12—(AP)—The movement, rapidly gathering momentum in Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana and other middle-western states, of farmers establishing factories for the manufacture of imported types of cheeses was today characterized by Raymond W. Bell, of the dairy production division of the Department of Agriculture as being "laudable and practical."

Using the factory recently established at Elgin, Ill., by cooperating dairymen as an example, Dr. Bell declared there was no reason why farmers of America could not supply all the Swiss, Munster, brick, limburger, Neuchatel, Italian, roquefort and Camembert cheeses required by American consumers.

"Mother Unit"
The Elgin group set about manufacturing such types in an effort to solve their surplus problems. The factory is to be the "mother unit" of others to be started later. Everything in America is ready for the development of such an industry, said Dr. Bell, except the farm.

"This nation, through the exhaustive research carried on by this department," he continued, "knows more about the manufacture of cheese than any other in the world."

"There is no reason why, if those who organize factories follow instructions furnished them by this Department with unerring precision, approximately 130,000,000 pounds of American milk cannot be consumed in the manufacture of the millions of pounds of cheese imported by this nation annually."

Son Of Brazilian Millionaire Is Held For Abduction

Buenos Aires, Oct. 12—(AP)—The socially prominent son of Senora Josefa Doamaral was held for questioning today as police investigated the case of the 80-year-old millionaire whose mysterious disappearance was solved more than a year ago when she was found locked in a closet.

Authorities took the son, Maria Doamaral, in custody after they said they had learned that the house in which the aged woman was found apparently had been rented by relatives. His wife also was detained.

The Senora was too feeble to give a clear account of her imprisonment, but police said she and her grandson and heir, Paulo Doamaral, vanished at Sao Paulo after a family dispute over a $2,500,000 legacy.

FATAL CRASH OF UNITED PLANE IS UNSOLVED TODAY

Open Verdict Returned In Death Of Seven Tuesday Eve

Valparaiso, Ind., Oct. 12—(AP)—The fatal crash of the United Air Lines New York-Chicago plane with death to seven persons near Chesterton, Ind., went down into history today as one of the unsolved tragedies of aviation.

An open verdict, stating the cause of the crash Tuesday night was unknown, was returned by Coroner Carl Davis of Porter County, at the conclusion of a closed inquest at which witnesses and officials of the company testified.

Dr. Davis said he believed two explosions occurred, one while the ship was still in the air and another when it struck the ground. The fire that enveloped the wreckage followed the second blast, he believed.

Officials of United Air Lines testified the multi-motored craft had actually been flown but 1,000 hours and that its payload was 1,200 pounds under the maximum permitted by law. In construction they said it exceeded Department of Commerce regulations for strength.

lication is active in the fight waged on the bond program and in the advocacy of the Lantz bills.

Senator Lantz said he objected to "a further continuation of the dole system." That, he said, was what the bond issue would entail.

"The dole system," he declared, "is becoming so thoroughly fixed in Illinois that, ere long, the recipients of the dole will be the controlling factor in the state government. So long as cities and counties can obtain money to support their unemployed by means other than local taxation they will do so. If local taxpayers have to provide the money used for unemployment relief then none but those honestly entitled to relief will receive it."

"Unbelievable Overhead"
The Senator said administration of relief by the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission was encumbered with "an unbelievable overhead expense."

He said figures furnished by the commission showed "it has a tremendous monthly overhead for salaries alone." Among employees he cited the following: 110 supervisors at $350 a month each; 224 case workers at $200 a month; 1249 stenographers at $75 a month; 1456 clerks at $75 a month; one executive secretary at $8,000 a year.

The Senator also charged that Cook county has "not made the same effort to support its own poor as downstate communities."

"Outstanding examples of communities seeking to aid themselves rather than beg aid from the state and federal government were," the Senator said, "as follows: Rock Island township, which assessed a property tax of $3.34 on the $100 valuation in 1932; South Moline township which made an assessment of $3.43; Bloomington with a $6 assessment; Decatur with $3.18 and Moline with $3.04.

"During the same year," he said, "Cook county levied an assessment on property of approximately 7 cents."

Basis For Objection
The Illinois Agricultural Association bases its objection to the bond issue, as suggested by Gov. Homer, on the following factors:

(1) A previous bond issue, identical in character, is now under attack in court. In that case it is claimed the diversion of the gasoline tax to meet the bond is unconstitutional. In event the diversion is held unconstitutional the bonds will probably cause an increase in the state property tax.

(2) The bond issue must be ratified at the general election in November, 1934. The Agricultural Association contends that even though the diversion of gas tax funds is held valid the people may fail to ratify the bond issue. Inasmuch as the money will be expended before that date—anticipation warrants will be issued to furnish funds for immediate use—the appropriation would then have to be met by a general state property tax unless some other means of retiring the anticipation warrants were found.

Government To Buy Butter Surplus And Donate It To Needy

Washington, Oct. 12—(AP)—Many million dollars worth of butter will be distributed to the needy in a new government effort to simultaneously improve unemployment relief and lighten the surplus pressure on prices.

Detailed figures are undecided, but Harry L. Hopkins, Relief Administrator, has promised to buy "a substantial portion of the butter surplus." This surplus is estimated at 100,000,000 pounds more than a year ago and 15,000,000 greater than the last five years averaged.

To help bear the cost, the Farm Administration is considering a one cent a pound processing tax on butterfat. This would raise about $30,000,000.

SHARE in the benefits of this "New Deal" as millions of families have done for 31 years!

'Way Back in 1902 Penney's "New Deal" Was Launched to Bring Direct Benefits in Savings and Satisfaction to Millions of Americans

At PENNEY'S the Blue Eagle means a "NEW DEAL" for Entire Families

That the government has at heart the interests of every member of the family is shown in striking fashion. Its recognition of women in important posts (even cabinet and diplomatic positions), its killing blow to child labor, its sensible, useful employment of young men in the Conservation Corps.

At Penney's, too, the selection offered provides for the entire family, for the home itself. Many families have been completely outfitted from head to foot... for three generations.

"Value" has a real meaning in terms of actual savings in dollars and cents in these stores. There are no "special sales" at Penney's. Every article, every day, is offered for sale at the lowest price that economical operation, skillful centralized buying can make possible.

THE "NEW DEAL" at Penney's is thirty-one years old. A broad statement, but facts are back of it. For many of the fundamentals on which today's far-reaching national program rests are the same as those on which the Penney stores were founded in 1902.

Almost phrase for phrase the simple rules set down by J. C. Penney when he opened his first store are the same as those which make up important planks in the "New Deal" platform at Washington.

HERE ARE A FEW: Wages to provide the comforts of life, not mere existence. An opportunity for employees to share in ownership. Operating costs cut to the bone, and the savings passed on to the public. Elimination of waste, of duplicated effort. Elimination, too, of "hokum." Every article to be plainly marked, to be sold for just what it is. A small profit on each sale (but many sales). An efficient central organization serving... not dominating... units set up to meet local needs. No fancy trimmings, no fancy salaries for "executives." We hear these phrases often, today. In 1902 they were the "dreams" of an idealist.

But the "dreams" came true. The idea worked. It has brought direct benefits in savings and satisfaction to many millions of people. You can't fool that many people throughout thirty-one years. The values had to be there. Customers who bought once, bought again... told their friends.

Your Penney store makes a bid for your patronage on what it can offer you in these very values.

And the over twenty-one thousand members of the Penney organization have faith that the courageous national "New Deal" will overcome the inevitable difficulties which confront it, will win out and bring direct and indirect benefits to every home and family in the country. The Penney stores were among the first to display the "Blue Eagle," and here this symbol has a very real meaning.

May Delay Putting Hog Process Taxes Into Full Effect

Washington, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Proposals to delay the imposition of the full processing taxes on hogs needed to finance the corn-hog production control program being worked out by the Farm Adjustment Administration today occupied administrators, who plan to seek a substantial reduction in the production of both commodities during the coming year.

Representatives of corn and hog producers, who recently conferred with administrators, proposed that the tax be placed at two cents a pound or two dollars a hundred. Some of these now urge that the tax be fixed at one cent a pound until January 1, and that it be at the rate of two cents a pound after that date. The one cent tax would go into effect as soon as the program was completed, probably not later than November first.

Earl C. Smith, Chicago, chairman of the corn belt producers' committee of twenty-five, which recently prepared a plan, was to confer with Secretary Wallace late today regarding the tax.

Everyone enjoys a visit to the Walgreen stores at the Century of Progress. It is a nice place for luncheon.

STUDEBAKER is presenting the lowest priced fine cars in American motoring history in these startling new Studebakers of 1934!

Studebaker has stepped down into new fields of low price and stepped up traditional Studebaker quality in so doing.

The armor-plated bodies of these new Studebakers of 1934 are sensational in their beauty, strength and quiet. They go farther than any standard production bodies in the world in approximating the air-curve symmetry of the latest giant speed planes.

Appealing outside, they're utterly alluring when you open the doors . . . with capacious seats, luxurious tailored upholstery and the finest fittings ever provided in cars so low priced. A new ventilating system assures real comfort—allows opening of windshield.

These new Studebakers have that stamina and brilliance of performance which enabled five 85% stock Studebakers to finish among the first twelve in the great Indianapolis Speedway race on May 30 last—and to go through that entire contest without a single adjustment or repair!

They have uncanny "mechanical brains" that make driving almost entirely automatic.

The test of driving will fully convince you that no car you can buy is nearly as good a "buy" as these startling new low-priced Studebakers. The new Dictator Six is $645. The new Commander Eight is $845. The new President Eight is $1045!

SHARING LIFE

By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton

The Golden Rule will finally be brought about, I think, by the pain we see in others reacting on ourselves, as if we and they were part of one body. To put it in other words, as man becomes more sensitive he will have to live by the Golden Rule.

In the end, only by sharing himself can man save himself from hardness or heart-ache. Only by healing others can he heal his own deep hurt. Here, too, is the precious secret of self-escape by which alone man can ever win happiness, if he ever wins it at all.

All education is a process of sharing, by which the teacher puts his life into the lives of his students. It is not filling vacant minds with hand-me-down ideas; it is awakening the mind of youth to a sense of self-discovery and a passion for self-fulfillment.

It is largely a feat of the imagination, by which we are able to put ourselves into the lives of others. The one absorbing topic of interest to man, overshadowing all others, is himself. If we can picture to ourselves the mind and feelings of the other fellow, we interest him, hold him, and can give him the truth we know.

It makes me mad for a man to preach at me. If he must preach at all, let him preach to me, not at me, or over me, or about something that does not interest me. That is to say, he could share himself with me, tell me his secret, if he has one, and what meaning or music he has found in the strange adventure of life.

One day Emerson went to church but he could not tell from the sermon whether the preacher had ever loved, shared, or suffered—had ever heard the laugh of a child or looked into an open grave. Such a sermon was a dud, because the man in the pulpit did not share himself. If he had ever lived, he did not let anybody know it.

Share your life, and find the finest joy can know. Do not be stingy with your heart. Get out of yourself into the lives of others, and new life will flow into you—share and share alike.

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

PAUL GOES TO ANTIOCH

By WM. E. GILROY

The evil that men do lives after them as well as the good they have done. Even when a man has been converted the sins of his ignorance and blindness though they may be forgiven are not altogether wiped out in the seriousness of their consequences and results.

So, though Paul had been saved from the error of his persecuting zeal and had been brought into the light of the truth of the religion of love and grace, the effects of the persecution that he and others had exercised against the Christians went on.

One of these effects—a valuable thing in the light of Christian history—was the scattering of the Christians from Jerusalem. Some of these early Christians came to Antioch and it was here, we are told, that the followers of Jesus were first called "Christians."

This Antioch was the capital of Syria. It was situated on the river

Orontes, 20 miles from the sea and about 300 miles north of Jerusalem. This city is to be distinguished from another Antioch—a city in Pisidia—which also appears in the life of Paul.

These two Antiochs were the most prominent of 16 cities of the same name throughout the then known world. They had been founded by Greek monarchs and thus named in their honor.

The emergence of Christianity in the Syrian Antioch is symbolic of the nature and place of Christianity in the world. Situated at the great lines of trade between east and west, Antioch was a capital of great prosperity and splendor.

Its colonnaded streets stretched for miles, and its public monuments and buildings were conspicuous as the survivors of an age of outward glory.

But the life of the city was full of corruption and the licentious-ness of its inhabitants was so much a byword in the ancient world that when men would point to the moral degradation of Rome they were accustomed to say that "the Orontes had overflowed the Tiber."

It seems necessary to grasp so much in the setting if we would understand the place that Antioch occupied in Paul's religious life and missionary journeys. This capital of licentious living became, also, the new capital of a world movement of vitalizing power.

Here in Antioch distinctive conquests of the Christian faith were begun as certain Greeks or Gentiles responded to Christian teaching. The report of this came to the Church at Jerusalem, and Barnabas was sent as a messenger and counselor to encourage those who had accepted the new faith.

We do not know a great deal concerning Barnabas, but what we do know marks him as a man of distinctive and very noble character. The record here is that "he was a good man, full of the Holy Spirit and of faith." He had proven that by a devotion in which he had consecrated all his wealth and property to the common good of the Christian Church.

Barnabas was among the first to courageously accept Paul when the erstwhile persecutor had professed conversion to the Christian way. The Christians at Jerusalem naturally feared and distrusted this man whom they had known as chief among their foes. But Barnabas had vouched for the reality of his change of heart and now Barnabas goes in quest of Paul and finding him at Tarsus, brings him to Antioch.

The Christians in Antioch hearing of the distress of their fellow Christians in Jerusalem contributed liberally to their relief, sending their gifts through Barnabas and Paul, who went to Jerusalem ready to begin their first notable missionary journey, in which he shall find them well launched in the next lesson.

McAdoo's Name Is Mentioned In Probe Of Dillon, Read Co.

Washington Oct. 11.—(AP)—Senator McAdoo (D-Cal.) was named to Senate investigators today by a member of Dillon, Read & Company as counsel for the concern when it floated a $12,000,000 South American loan in 1921, now in default.

The bonds, floated by Dillon, Read & Company for Rio de Janeiro, are now selling for $16, on each $100 par value.

Robert O. Hayward, member of the firm, said McAdoo was counsel in straightening out a legal difficulty to permit Dillon, Read & Company to handle the issue.

FOXX IS VOTED MOST VALUABLE PLAYER OF YEAR

Athletics' Slugger Is Designated Second Consecutive Time

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor
New York, Oct. 12.—(AP)—James Emory Foxx, the home run king of the major leagues, was named by the baseball experts today as the American League's "most valuable player" for the second successive year.

Only two other stars in either league had ever gained this extraordinary distinction. Walter Johnson, when he was the "Big Train" of Washington's pitching staff, captured the award in 1913 and repeated in 1924, the year he helped the Senators win their first world series. Rogers Hornsby won the National League "most valuable player" contest in 1925 and repeated in 1929.

Foxx was selected for top honors again by a committee representing the Baseball Writers' Association of America, of which Denman Thompson of the Washington Star acted as chairman.

Given Brisk Run
The slugging first baseman of the Athletics was given a brisk run in the voting by two Washington rivals, Manager Joe Cronin and Heinie Manush, but emerged with a clean-cut margin. Decisive factors in favor of Foxx were that, in addition to retaining the home run crown he led all the American League hitters with an unofficial mark of 356 and topped the clouters of both big leagues in runs batted in, with 159.

In the opinion of Cronin, his closest rival and a former winner of the award, Foxx is "the greatest all-around ball player in the game today."

Ballots were cast by eight members of the writers' committee, each listing ten players in the order of preference. Points were awarded on the basis of ten for first place, nine for second, and so on.

Got Four Firsts
Foxx was named the No. 1 star by four experts and totaled 74 points out of a possible maximum of 80. He was rated second by three writers and fourth by one. Cronin and Manush each received two first place nominations, collecting 62 and 54 points respectively.

Lou Gehrig of the Yankees, Lefty Grove of the Athletics and Charley Gehring of the Tigers were ranked fourth, fifth and sixth. For the first time since 1927, Babe Ruth did not receive a vote or so much as honorable mention.

The selection of Foxx marks the fourth time in six years that a member of the Athletics has been chosen for the American League honor. Mickey Cochrane in 1928 and Bob Grove in 1931 preceded the first baseman in winning recognition as the most valuable.

These Did Voting
Members of the writers' committee consisted of Paul Shannon, Boston; Ed Burns, Chicago; Gordon Cobbledick, Cleveland; Daniel M. Daniel, New York; Bill Brandt, Philadelphia; Charles Ward, Detroit; Richard Farrington, St. Louis and Bob Considine, Washington.

The complete American League votes, including points, follow:

WHITNEY HOUSE TO BE DIVIDED AGAINST ITSELF

Occasion Is Ladies' Race: Society Is Buzzing Today

New York, Oct. 12.—(AP)—The house of Whitney was divided against itself today by a horse race. Society buzzed. So, too, did Mrs. John Hay Whitney and her cousin-in-law, Mrs. Cornelius V. Whitney, buzzed down the track, exercising their mounts for the epic ladies' race on this afternoon's program at Patrician Roslyn, L. I.

The entry list announced by the United Hunt Racing Association, sponsor of the affair, tells the story. Among the entrants are Mrs. John Hay Whitney, her mount "Range Rider" and Mrs. Cornelius Whitney on "Haleyon." Haleyon is a stake winner. Railbirds won't remember Range Rider so well.

Mrs. John Hay Whitney raced him at Rockingham last summer. His record is not impressive. He generally managed to finish up with the leaders—of the next race.

Several other society women have entries in the event. The United Hunt Racing Association promises a genuine race for the $500 silver cup, the riders sporting the colors of their stables: Mrs. John Hay Whitney is fuchsia and royal purple and her cousin in the famous "Sonny" Whitney silks of sapphire and green.

Mr. O'Toole Was Noticed By Pres. Roosevelt At Game

Detroit, Oct. 12.—(AP)—A bit dusty from close contact with certain under parts of a railroad carriage, Mr. Horace "Patsy" O'Toole, the one-man cheering throng from Detroit, arrived home belatedly from Washington today to tell the city how President Roosevelt had "inquired" about him, and to place his voice in training for a tough season of football bellying—on a national scale.

Mr. O'Toole, by his admission, has been thrust suddenly into national prominence, and now is a fit candidate for the position of head gate crasher once held by "One-Eye" Connolly. Although Mr. O'Toole expects to maintain headquarters in Detroit, his native metropolis, his operations, he will tell anyone who inquires, henceforth will extend to all parts of the country.

"I went up there to Washington," said Mr. O'Toole, after freshening his cinder-sneaked clothing, "to shout the Washingtons into a series title. Well, I give 'em my best, and Joe Cronin personally thanked me—in fact, we had our pictures taken together—but the Giants had the stuff."

F. D. R. Didn't Smile
"Anyways, I was in a box right next to the President, letting 'em have my best voice, never giving a minute's lull. The President keeps looking at me. I smile, but he don't smile back. Pretty soon, he taps an aide on the shoulder, looks my way, and says something in the aide's ear. The aide drops over to see me."

"O'Toole," says the aide, "you're a great guy, and I know you wouldn't refuse the President a favor, would you?"

"Absolutely not," I says, and went back to rooting.

"Well," says the aide, "the President would like it very much if you would sit on the opposite side of the field. He'll see to it that a place is arranged for you."

This, said Mr. O'Toole, constituted the highest recognition of his prowess as a de-luxe rooter to date, and brought the decision that henceforth he will "branch out."

Has Full Strength
Willaman expects to have full strength on his team Saturday and hopes to take the visitors for a rough two-hour ride over the Ohio Stadium gridiron that will leave the Commodores with a bad case of sea sickness. Gaining as much yardage in one game as the average team gains all season, Ohio State opened the season last week with a 75 to 0 victory over Virginia. However, it wasn't considered a fair test for the Buckeyes, but the Vanderbilt encounter should reveal a thing or two, especially their chances against Michigan.

Only three of the regulars on this year's Vanderbilt team played on the eleven that beat Ohio, 26 to 21 two years ago. Coach Dan McDugin will be depending mostly on newcomers and last year reserves. He has six veterans, but the others are promising. Vanderbilt has beaten Cumberland, North Carolina and held Oklahoma to a scoreless tie.

Around the Big Ten
Minnesota practiced passing... Fred Frink, Illinois end, isn't likely to get in the Wisconsin game Saturday... Chicago is well fortified with tackles now. Coach Shaugnessy has four good ones.

Coach Solen is searching for a reserve punter at Iowa. The Northwestern Wildcats had another hard workout as Stanford arrived... Stanford worked at Soldier Field... Wisconsin drilled on defense against Illinois plays... Tackling practice was on tap at Ohio State... Michigan drilled against Cornell University's offense and defense formations... Red Antonini is back in the Indiana lineup... Worried over Minnesota offense, Purdue went through a long defensive drill.

BUSINESS IS BETTER
New York, Oct. 12.—(AP)—It's been a long time since football has broken any attendance records, but the early returns from the 1933 season show definite signs of a rebound from the depths that were reached last year.

A nationwide survey by The Associated Press, covering the early games of 32 representative colleges, show improved attendance figures on all sides and a total gain of over 200,000. Where fewer than a half million fans had turned out at this stage of the season a year ago, the 1933 total for the schools listed is 705,880.

A good many reasons can be found for the larger crowds, notably lower admission prices and a reduction in the "set up" games but a general trend toward a recovery of the lost "gates" of the past few years is quite evident. Only four of the 32 schools have reported attendance lower than last year and a few of them already have reported banner crowds.

Already there has been one gathering of 60,000, which turned out to see California defeat St. Mary's 14-13. Ohio State, which could pull only 12,000 fans into its stadium last year, drew 42,000 for its 75-0 victory over Virginia Saturday. It was a remarkable gain even when the fact that a large number of school children were admitted free is considered.

Yale and Tennessee had record opening game crowds. The Elis drew 17,000 for their season's first clash with Maine and 11,429 saw Tennessee defeat Virginia Poly.

OHIO STATE TO GET FIRST TEST WITH VANDERBILT

Saturday's Game Will Give Line On Buckeyes' Chances

Chicago, Oct. 12.—(AP)—You've heard the line about killing two birds with one stone? Well, it seems Coach Sam Willaman of Ohio has heard it, too.

While preparing for their big intersectional game with Vanderbilt Saturday scouts at the Scarlet camp said the Buckeyes have also been getting ready for their jaunt to Ann Arbor a week later when they meet Michigan.

Of course, that doesn't mean Mr. Willaman is over-confident about beating Vanderbilt. He has high regard for the Commodores, but after all, the Michigan game will count most when the statisticians figure the final Big Ten standings. The Wolverines are the big obstacle on the Buckeyes' ladder to success.

Do You Remember?
One Year Ago Today—Tony Canzoneri successfully defended his title against Frankie Petrolle, stopping the challenger in the third round.

Five Years Ago Today—Georgiana Bishop of Bridgeport, Conn., won the women's national senior golf title for the third time at Rye, N. Y.

Ten Years Ago Today—The greatest crowd in the history of baseball saw the Giants beat the Yanks 1-0 in the third game of the world series.

Proper Manner of Using Golf Clubs Proven Valuable
Baltimore, Oct. 12.—(AP)—The proper manner in using the golf club does not bother Bill Connolly so long as he gets the ball where it was intended.

Playing the fourth, a severe dog-leg hole, at Bonnie View course, Connolly hooked directly into the woods. The ball hit a tree and bounded straight back at him.

Swinging the club in the style of a baseball player, he took a lusty swipe at the pellet and drove it 150 yards down the fairway.

Slain Capitalist

Francis J. M. Grace, above, 57, retired shipping magnate, was shot to death on the grounds of his estate at Santa Cruz, Calif., by Frieda Wilhelmina Weltz, his former nurse. Miss Weltz told police there had been no romance, but that "a long series of lies and insults" provoked the shooting.

WITHDRAW ONE MIDDLE WEST BANKRUPTCY ACTION

Action Makes Possibility of Bankruptcy More Remote

Chicago—The committee representing the noteholders of the Middle West Utilities Co., has withdrawn its petition filed last March seeking bankruptcy for the company. Another motion for leave to intervene in opposition to the bankruptcy proceedings was filed by the committee. The motion was taken under advisement by the Judge.

Since the original petition was filed the note holders have reached an agreement with other creditors, including several New York and Chicago banks, on the disputed assets. The latest action has no immediate significance but makes even more remote the possibility of bankruptcy for the utility firm.

Robert F. Gidding of the law firm of Kirkland, Fleming, Green & Martin represented the committee. As attorneys for the committee the firm has withdrawn as associate counsel for the petitioning creditors who started the bankruptcy proceedings.

"Fast Worker" Read Flop As A Scrapper
Oakland, Calif., Oct. 12.—(AP)—Down and out went Alfred C. Read, Jr., whose affections recently were valued at $75,000 in a verdict against Claire Windsor, actress, in his professional prize fighting debut here last night.

The erstwhile young broker flopped to the floor in the first round before a hard punch delivered by Jimmy Mello of Oakland, who at 164 pounds, weighed five pounds more than his opponent.

It was all over for Read, who had trimmed the Alfred C. just plain "Al" for the combat, just one minute and 40 seconds after the round opened.

Read, whose divorced wife, Marian, won the alienation of affections verdict in Los Angeles against Miss Windsor, has tied several roles in the past year or so, including a career as a professional baseball player and for a short time early this year was with the Oakland Club of the Pacific Coast League.

and now the ORIGINAL LUBRICATING MOTOR FUEL with all its features improved is offered as "FALL-GRADE" D-X — especially designed for fall weather use

There is one and only one D-X. It was the first motor fuel marketed in the Middle West which provided upper cylinder lubrication. Imitations have been attempted, but none can match D-X performance because D-X alone is made by the patented "X" process. And, now, in the new "Fall-Grade" D-X, further improvements have been made. "Fall-Grade" D-X is specially made for use in fall weather. It provides anti-knock performance and gives instant starting on the cold mornings without sacrificing power or mileage and without danger of "gas-lock" on the warm days. For perfect performance at this season of the year, use "Fall-Grade" D-X. Now at all Diamond stations.

A Year for Real Thanks

If there ever was a year when we should utter devout thanksgivings, it is this year when we are emerging from the shadow of the valley of depression, and it looks as if everyone will soon have a job again. And everyone will therefore eat. And, speaking of eating, there is no better way to celebrate Thanksgiving than with a bang-up dinner that will make you feel fit to pop.

Whatever have been your experiences since that fatal fall of 1929 which seemed also the fall of everything else, this is one day in the year when everyone can devote his or her whole time to eating, so we are going to suggest a dinner to fit the occasion. Never mind the decorations this year, if you're still short of funds, but put all your money into food.

And here are the recipes for the dishes in this menu with which you may not be familiar:

Fruit Cocktail in Orange (or Apple) Cases: Cut one banana in cubes, and put it together with the drained contents of one No. 2 can of grapefruit and of one 1-pound can of sliced peaches in eight orange cases, having the peaches swirled around on the top. To make the orange cases, four oranges are required. Remove all the pulp from the cases, and keep them in ice water until needed. Hallowed out red or yellow apples can be used instead. After the fruit is arranged, pour over the chilled syrups from the cans of grapefruit and peaches, mixed with one tablespoon of fresh lime juice and one tablespoon of honey. Serves eight.

Decorative and Delicious

Cream of Carrot Soup: Make a white sauce of four tablespoons butter, four tablespoons flour, three cups milk and two cups of strained home-made or canned chicken broth. Press three cups of sliced carrots, or the contents of two 8-ounce cans of diced carrots, through a sieve, and add with the liquor. Add one-half cup cream, and season to taste with salt and pepper. Serve hot in cups, and on top of each one float a small round cracker on which is placed a rosette of whipped cream dusted with paprika. Serves eight.

Pumpkin and Apple Layer Pie: Mix together one-half cup sugar, one-half teaspoon cinnamon, three-fourths teaspoon ginger and one-half teaspoon salt. Add to one cup of home-cooked or canned pumpkin. Add two well-beaten eggs and one cup scalded milk. Pour into a pie tin lined with pie paste, bake at 450 degrees for ten minutes and then lower the heat to 325 degrees until set, or until a knife, inserted, comes out clean. Cool. Meanwhile soften one and one-half teaspoons gelatin in two tablespoons cold water. Dissolve over hot water and add to one and one-half cups home-cooked or canned apple sauce, with three tablespoons orange marmalade and a few grains of cinnamon. Chill. When it begins to set, spread over the pumpkin pie and chill again. Cover with whipped cream. Serves eight.

An Extra Dessert: And here's an extra dessert to be served where cider can be obtained. It is cool and sweet and satisfying, and takes very little trouble to make. Cider Frappé: Boll one-half cup sugar and one-fourth cup water in a syrup. Soften one teaspoon gelatin in a little cider, and dissolve in the hot syrup. Cool, add two tablespoons lemon juice and three cups cider, and freeze to a stiff mush. If frozen in refrigerator trays, stir several times or beat with Dover beater. Serves eight.

DEPT. OF LABOR AGENTS TO STOP "INTERFERENCES"

Are Ordered To Stop
Seeking To Control
Newspaper Men

Tallahassee, Ala., Oct. 12.—(AP)—Details of an incident which resulted in an order from Secretary Perkins that Department of Labor agents must not interfere in any way with newspaper editors have been related by an Alabama newspaper editor who claimed that right to express his "personal opinion" in the columns of his paper. The Secretary's action followed a protest by Dick Thompson, editor of the Tallahassee Tribune, against what he said was an order from Eugene H. Dunnegan, Labor Commissioner, to "desist" from writing articles opposing formation of unions in a local textile mill.

The editor said Dunnegan told him that "if I didn't stop I was going to get into trouble—I must desist from expressing my opinions freely." Dunnegan said he was "free speech" and several other topics but he couldn't get together and he left after again warning me to stop," Thompson said.

In an editorial on September 14 Thompson declared he was within his constitutional right, adding the editor of this paper will express his view and opinion through this paper as long as the Constitution of the United States grants a free press and a free speech." Dunnegan yesterday denied making any threats against Thompson, but said he told the editor that he thought his editorials were in violation of the N.R.A. 24013

WALGREEN HAS BIG SALES GAIN FOR SEPTEMBER

Sales of the Walgreen company increased sharply in September, standing 16.9 per cent ahead of the return for September, 1932. Sales during the month totaled $4,262,059, compared with $3,646,919 a year ago an increase of $615,140. In the first nine months of the year sales totaled $34,063,078, compared with $34,597,448 a decline of $534,369, or 1.5 per cent. The company had 470 stores in operation at the end of September compared with 471 at the end of September, 1932. Neither the sales total nor the number of stores includes the shops at a Century of Progress. Officials of the company explained that the World Fair business is extra and they do not feel it should be included in the general returns.

Everyone enjoys a visit to the Walgreen stores at the Century of Progress. It is a nice place for luncheon.

Death Ray To Prolong Life Is Scientist's Dream

Chicago, Oct. 12.—(AP)—A death ray, not to destroy life but to prolong it, was visualized by Dr. Charles H. Mayo of Rochester, Minn. "After the war," he said, "we read a great deal about the death ray which in future conflicts would destroy armies and sink battle-ships. Of course, that is one of those things we shan't believe until we see it. But we will soon make greater use of the knowledge we now have of the electrical activity of bacteria, by learning to destroy them with opposing death dealing wave lengths of radium, X-rays or various forms of electric waves developed for this purpose."

Dr. Mayo spoke last night before a community health meeting arranged by the American College of Surgeons.

"We know," he said, "that bacteria carry negative electrical charges, and that they have wave lengths according to their activity for when we place them under a microscope in a fluid in which they can move freely they are attracted to a positive electrical pole, and we can measure their speed. The higher speed is that of the bacteria attacking the brain and nervous system."

Dr. Mayo told his audience that if man could discover how bees, by special diet, develop their queen from an egg cell identical with those which produce workers, he would be able to make an important step in the matter of growth control.

TWO BILLIONS SOUGHT BY U. S. TREASURY DEPT.

Will Supply Current
Needs And Retire
Some Bonds

Washington, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Treasury financing on a $2,000,000,000 scale today was the administration program for raising ready cash and refunding $1,875,000,000 of the Fourth Liberty Loan issue.

A new issue of 12-year bonds, paying 4 1/2 per cent the first year and 3 1/4 thereafter, provided the means of accomplishing the double purpose of the operation.

The exact amount of the issue was undetermined, but $500,000,000 worth will be sold for cash at 101 1/2. Subscriptions open Monday.

Other portions of the bonds will be exchanged for Fourth Liberty bonds, which aggregate $6,268,094,150 and bear 4 1/2 per cent interest. Treasury officials expected only holders of the $1,875,000,000 called bonds of take advantage of the exchange.

Secretary Woodin said the $500,000,000 sale would provide cash for current needs, and the refunding would "effect a material reduction in the annual interest charge on the public debt."

The bonds to be called were determined by a drawing late yesterday at the Treasury. The result was that the called bonds are those with serial numbers beginning

Forgotten Sweetheart

BEGIN HERE TODAY
BOB WESTON, son of a millionaire, has fallen in love with JOAN WARING, pretty Memphis girl. Bob had come to Memphis in connection with a textile plant under construction for his father's company.

BARBARA COURTNEY, a society girl, is scheming to win him away from Joan.

CHAPTER XIII

JOAN was determined not to show her embarrassment, trying to think sensibly, conscious of her strained voice and stiff smile. Queer how anything so unimportant as a bridge game could seem so terribly important, as though it might affect the rest of one's life.

She wished she had refused to play. She would never have allowed herself to be drawn into a tennis game, knowing she was a poor player, or gone to a dance if she danced badly.

Barbara was playing an unusually good game. She seemed to make impossible contracts by some psychic bid or lucky play. Twice Bob praised her with a brief, "Good—ork, Barbara!"

The second rubber ended. Barbara suggested another rubber, since she and Fred were winners.

"I'm afraid we're not lucky today," Bob said. "How much do we owe you?"

"It's a 20 rubber. That's $1.50 each. Will have to take you and Joan again."

Joan was thinking passionately: "Never again with me!" She felt sick, bruised, as though she had taken a beating.

On the way upstairs to get her purse she passed the table where Jim was playing with Enid, Charlie and Carol.

"How'd you come out?" Jim asked.

"We lost," said Joan.

"You'll always lose to Barbara," Jim said dryly. "She knows her game."

Yes, Joan admitted to herself. She would always lose to Barbara. "Bridge is a fool pastime, but I'll teach you more about it if you'd care to learn," Jim said. "I'm cutting out of the game after this rubber. If you like I'll give you a lesson."

Joan accepted. She was grateful to him. She felt easy and natural with Jim.

"Jim's going to give Joan lessons," Barbara said.

"Jim knows lots of games," Fred agreed. "Wine, women and song." The line was written about that fellow.

"Better warn your friend, Bob," said Barbara. "She seems to be falling for Jim's line."

Bob said nothing. He was thoroughly annoyed. He had been so proud to bring Joan here but something had certainly gone wrong.

Joan didn't seem to be the same girl he had known in Memphis at all.

UPSTAIRS they were dressing for dinner. Joan, looking through her meager wardrobe, inspected Pat's red chiffon, loaned for the house party. She had brought, also, the white dress she had worn the night she sang at the Junior League benefit. Joan finally decided on the white. It was simpler but smarter than the chiffon.

She slipped into the dress, dusted clear skin with powder and added more rouge than usual to her lips. In the mirror she saw Barbara watching her. Their eyes met and held.

"Why," Joan thought, with a flash of intuition. "She's afraid of me!"

Barbara was wearing a black frock with a cape of gold sequins. She was a picture of sophistication with her highly colored finger nails and smooth, perfectly waved hair. No detail of her toilet had been overlooked.

"We are like two fighters girding for battle," Joan thought. There was a touch of high comedy about it all. She studied her reflection for a moment, then unclasped the antique necklace that had been her grandmother's, lifted it from her slender throat and laid it aside.

"Oh, Barbara, that dress is gorgeous!" cried Sally from the doorway.

"Barbara's out for more scalps. As if the blond scalp she's flaunting shouldn't be enough for any girl!" said Carol. "Shades of Helen of Troy, Cleopatra and the Queen of Sheba!"

"The girl has glamour," said Sally.

"Joan, you're lovely," Carol said. "I like your pale look. It's mysterious and alluring."

Bob was in the hall when the four girls descended. The sight of Joan stirred him. There was something forlorn about her, despite the gallant set to her head and shoulders. He thought she looked beautiful and a trifle sad.

"Hello," he said to Joan.

"Hello." Her voice was not quite steady, husky.

"Will you go in to dinner with me?" What he wanted to say was, "What's happened, Joan? You've had me on pins and needles."

"Why, of course," Joan told him.

THE table was centered by a silver basket of roses and jonquils. Dainty place cards marked the places of the guests.

"Sally—you and Fred there," Carol was saying. "Bob, you here by Barbara. Joan and Jim are over there."

"I'm toasting the best looking girl at the table," Jim whispered to Joan. "Will you drink it with me?"

Joan was about to say, "I don't drink," but stopped. Across the table Barbara had touched Bob's glass with her own, saying, "Here's to a good girl but not too good for the good die young and I do hate a dead one."

"Barbara, my child, where did you resurrect that ancient toast?" Fred gibed. "That was my grandmother's favorite."

"I just happened to think of it," said Barbara.

Joan's thoughts were traveling a new path. "If I had been more like them he would have liked me better," she told herself.

Her steps felt together rhythmically. Her head was close against his shoulder. But when she glanced up at him, his face was set and cold.

"He doesn't like me any more," she thought. The happy mood slipped from her, replaced by one of dull misery.

BLAME FOR ERIE RAILROAD WRECK PLACED BY I. C. C.

Three Trainmen are Held At Fault For Fatal Crash Sept. 5th.

Washington, Oct. 12—(AP)—Three employees of the Erie railroad were blamed today for the wreck at Binghamton, N. Y., on September 5 in which 14 were killed and 32 injured.

Primary responsibility was laid on Engineer King whose train ran into the rear end of another train, in the report by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The report of Director W. P. Borland of the Bureau said Engineer King was to blame for failing to obey a signal indication which required him to proceed ready to stop short because of a train or some obstruction.

Engineer Grant of train No. eight, into which train No. two was driven by King, was blamed for failing to whistle for a flag, and Conductor Burlingame of No. eight was held responsible for failing to see that full protection was afforded against a following train.

When he found that his train was proceeding at a slow pace.

The report criticized the Erie Railroad.

"The record of this case," said Borland, "does not do credit to the Erie Railroad for there have been too many employees who failed in one way or another to perform their duties to the fullest possible extent. Such a situation is a reflection on those responsible for the proper functioning of the operating department and justifies the recommendation that greater efforts shall be made in the way of instruction and supervision."

PILLAR OF SALT

By L. L. R.

Who said the pun is the lowest form of humor? How about those of the Marx brothers? As a matter of fact, the success of those four comedians comes largely from the use of puns. Like these, for example:

Groucho: We'll have to get a writ of habeas corpus.

Chico: Get rid of who?

Groucho: Get rid of a writ of habeas corpus.

Chico: You've heard of habeas corpus, haven't you?

Chico: No. But I've heard of "Habeas Irish Rose."

And another form of humor is the questionable forming of the past tense. You know, the past tense of "sneak" is skunk; of "grub" is grub; of "skim" is skum; etc.

It's fun to be fooled.

Through the air waves comes a long and colorful description of a program to follow. We sit back and enjoy it. And then, at the conclusion of the announcement, the voice says: "This is an electrical transcription."

And we pick up a magazine to enjoy an article by a man of prominence. We read the title, and notice his name underneath. But under his name we see, in almost microscopic print, "as told to—"

Remember the high school essays you used to write, entitled, "Character vs. Reputation?"

Comic strips for the kiddies? Why, even if Junior could wrest the page from the parents, he wouldn't understand the pictures. But don't get us wrong, you cartoonists. We like 'em that way. Borrowed.

Does this combination of letters mean anything to you?

MOUNT MORRIS KIWANIS TO BE HOSTS SOON

To Entertain Editors Of Northwestern Part Of State

Mount Morris, Ill., Oct. 12—(Special)—On the afternoon and evening of Friday, October 27, the Kiwanis Club of Mt. Morris will act as hosts to an estimated gathering of 100 Northwestern Illinois editors and publishers.

The program will begin at 2:30 P. M., when the assembled newspapermen will start a tour through the printing plant of the Cable Bros. Company.

After this tour of inspection the visiting journalists will be conducted through the offices of the Cable News Company where fifty magazines are distributed nationally, and will then visit the editorial offices of Poultry Tribune, How to Sell, Outdoor Life, and Hatchery Tribune, the four magazines which are edited and published in Mt. Morris.

At 6:30 P. M., the visitors will gather in the dining room of the Cable Inn where they will be guests of the Kiwanians at a banquet and entertainment which will include a musical program and a short lecture given by Douglas C. McMurtrie, noted authority of publishing and typography of Chicago. The invitation of the Mount Morris clubmen has been accepted by the editors and publishers of more than a score of newspapers and additional acceptances are arriving daily.

The entertainment which is given through the cooperation of the Cable Brothers Company was an outgrowth of a request by several editors and publishers of the section to tour the Mt. Morris printing plant. Under the direction of Howard C. Bronson, President of the Kiwanis Club, the invitation was enlarged to include practically every editor and publisher in Northwestern Illinois. Harry G. Cable, President of the Cable Brothers Company expressed a desire to cooperate in the program, having been at one time the co-publisher of the old Mount Morris Index, the enterprise that was the beginning of the present great printing industry in Mount Morris.

A group of relatives surprised Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bauer Sunday in observance of their wedding anniversary. They enjoyed dinner together and spent the day socially. Those in the party were Mr. and Mrs. John Bauer, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Peters, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Bauer, L. A. Bartel, Andrew Bartel, Mr. and Mrs. Mat Grennan, Mrs. Vogelsang and Norbert Pitz.

PAINFUL FEET

Of all minor maladies, painful foot is one of the most disabling and depressing.

The foot has two arches, a longitudinal one and a transverse one, both supported by the muscles of the foot. When the muscles are too weak, the weight of the body falls upon the ligaments, and they are stretched and become painful.

Inflammatory conditions develop, causing adhesions between the various bones and surrounding structures.

Disturbances in the longitudinal arch, the one running the length of the foot, may be due to excessive weight or to overstrain.

The treatment in the case of overweight is reduction and exercise.

The exercise recommended for the ordinary case of weakened arch requires walking on the outer margin of the foot and attempting to pick up small objects with the toes. Rising on the ball of the foot or resting the foot on the ball and rotating the toes is also of value.

In overstrain, the proper treatment is rest. Bathing the feet in hot water, massaging them gently, moving the bones in the various directions to which they will yield, will tend to loosen up and relieve the stiffness that results from overstrain.

Transverse arch troubles are more common in women than in men. Short stockings which constrict the toes and shoes of bad shape with too high heels are chiefly responsible for this troublesome condition.

When the transverse arch falls, painful callouses on the fore part of the sole of the foot are likely to develop. The callouses then must be cut away and the falling transverse arch treated by means of proper support, exercise, and a well fitted shoe.
